What are the parts of a double glazed window?

Understanding the parts of a double glazed window can simplify both installation and maintenance. A clear visual representation helps to identify each component's role in ensuring insulation and energy efficiency. The window typically consists of two panes of glass, separated by a spacer bar that creates an insulating air gap.

How do glass units work?

The glass units themselves are a key part, consisting of two or more panes. Between these panes lies a gap, often filled with air or gas like argon. This gap serves as insulation, reducing heat transfer and noise from the outside. Look at the spacer bar located between the panes.

Why are spacer bars important in double glazed windows?

Spacer bars are a key component in double-glazed windows, directly impacting insulation efficiency. Their main function is to separate the two panes of glass while maintaining a consistent gap, ensuring the insulating gas inside the cavity remains intact.
