Does Europe need a battery supply chain?

With rising demand for electric vehicles (EVs) and renewable energy storage, Europe has made efforts to build its own supply chain for battery production, but the continent has long been dependent on global suppliers – particularly those in Asia – for key battery components.

Will Europe's Lithium-ion battery chain need government support?

“One way or another, Europe’s lithium-ion battery chain will need significant government support or partnerships with those who already have the know-how and those who can bring in the finance,” Adams added.

Why is a stable lithium supply chain important?

A stable and secure lithium supply chain is crucial for Europe’s energy transition and achieving its climate goals. According to the European Commission, the global demand for lithium is projected to increase 14-fold by 2040 compared to 2020 levels. The exponential growth of EVs and energy storage systems should drive this surge.

Why is lithium important?

Energy Security: Lithium is essential for producing batteries used in EVs and renewable energy storage systems. A stable and secure lithium supply chain is crucial for Europe’s energy transition and achieving its climate goals.

Does Europe rely on Chinese refined lithium?

Europe’s dependence on Chinese refined lithium is a critical issue. China dominates the global refined lithium market, controlling 82% of the global refined capacity for Battery Grade Lithium Hydroxide Monohydrate (BG LHM) in 2024 and 60% for Battery Grade Lithium Carbonate . This reliance poses several risks:.

Are lithium batteries reshaping the energy storage landscape?

Recent breakthroughs in lithium battery technology are reshaping the energy storage landscape. Solid-state lithium batteries are emerging as a promising innovation, offering higher energy density and enhanced safety compared to traditional lithium-ion cells.
