In the UK, with 1,300 employees, ENGIE owns and operates a large portfolio of renewable and flexible storage assets, across electrons and molecules, including one of the largest pumped-storage hydro plants in Europe. Is Lakeside Energy Park the UK's largest battery energy storage system?

The UK's largest battery energy storage system, Lakeside Energy Park, has gone live. Clean energy company TagEnergy's facility is now the largest transmission-connected BESS project in the UK, according to a media release. The 200MWh plant is TagEnergy's first transmission-connected BESS. The project is 100% owned and operated by TagEnergy.

How can energy storage improve UK energy security?

Energy storage assets, such as batteries, can provide a valuable contribution to UK energy security. In an energy market with high volumes of renewable energy, energy storage can help smooth the variable nature of renewable generation such as wind and solar to more closely meet the country's electricity demand needs.

What is a battery energy storage system?

Battery energy storage systems (BESS) store energy from renewables like solar and wind, and release it when the power needs are maximum. "When the sun is shining and the wind is blowing and we have excess supply, batteries can soak that up and store it," Mark Selvaratnam, project manager of Lakeside Energy Park, was quoted as saying by the BBC.

How can batteries contribute to UK energy security?

In order to deliver both UK Government's "British Energy Security Strategy" and RWE's climate neutral targets by 2040, both large scale renewable generation and flexible low carbon generation solutions will be required. Energy storage assets, such as batteries, can provide a valuable contribution to UK energy security.

Why are energy storage systems important?

Energy storage systems are an important element in the energy transition, as they can store energy when too much is produced from renewables, and make it available when needed. For example, overproduction from solar power stations at midday can be stored for use in the evening once the sun has set.

What is happening at Engie's Dinorwig pumped storage station?

The preparation of a 10-year project of refurbishment at *ENGIE's Dinorwig pumped storage station has begun, following an 8-year refurbishment at Ffestiniog, enabling the delivery of clean energy whenever needed.
