

Which telecommunications company has the most base stations in Uganda

Overview

The oldest mobile phone network indeed doesn't disappoint when it comes to coverage, in fact it is one of the most reliable networks when it comes to upcountry GSM/2G.

It would be a shame if Uganda's telecom giant doesn't have superior coverage, and indeed MTN Uganda doesn't let you down. Covering what seems to be over 70% of the.

Orange Uganda now turned Africell, cannot definitely compete with MTN and Airtel when it comes to 2G coverage, but what they miss to cover in 2G technology they make up for it in 3G. Data being the company's cash cow, Orange invested heavily in 3G technology leading the industry. They single-handedly managed to push the competition.

This is what I would call an 'on the down-low' network. With no public coverage map to share on their website, it is a hit a miss getting to know the actual extent of their mobile network coverage. UTL has both 2G and 3G networks with an LTE network coming soon. They claim to cover most parts of Uganda with voice, data and SMS services.

Smile Communications Uganda is a 4G-LTE high-speed data network provider, currently covering most parts of a Kampala, Entebbe and Mukono including the respective highways. With rumors of supporting voice (VoIP) in the near future, (not be confused with VoLTE also known as Voice over LTE) services they badly need to expand their.

As of June 2017, there were an estimated 20.4 million mobile subscribers out of an estimated population of 39.6 million; a 51.5 percent penetration rate. By March 2018, the number of mobile phone users had increased to 24.8 million, a 70.9 percent penetration rate. As of June 2020, the number of mobile telephone customers were estimated at 25.5 million, as reported by the newspaper. That figure had increased to 26.5 million at the end of September 2020.

The big red network currently has over 300 3G base stations according to their website which cover most areas in Kampala, plus up country major towns like Makasa, Mbarara, Kitgum, Arua, Gulu, Kumi, Mbale, Busia to mention but a
